

11. Historical events form the shared knowledge that guide a culture's collective actions.
Answer: TRUE
Page Ref: 33
12. People who live in areas of the U.S. that have harsher and colder climate conditions tend to be less tolerant of ambiguity than those who reside in warmer areas of the country.
Answer: FALSE
Page Ref: 36
13. People who live in areas of the U.S. that have harsher and colder climate conditions tend to be more tolerant of ambiguity than those who reside in warmer areas of the country.
Answer: TRUE
Page Ref: 36
14. Media are any technologies that extend the ability to communicate beyond the limits of face-to-face encounters.
Answer: TRUE
Page Ref: 37
15. Mass media are a form of technology.
Answer: TRUE
Page Ref: 38
16. Biologists claim that there is far more genetic diversity within each race than there is among races.
Answer: TRUE
Page Ref: 39
17. Scholars generally agree that there is no scientific basis for beliefs in biological differences based on race.
Answer: TRUE
Page Ref: 40
18. Scholars are in generally agree that there is a sound scientific basis for biological differences based on race.
Answer: FALSE
Page Ref: 40
19. Membership in a particular racial category is almost entirely a function of one's biological and genetic characteristics.
Answer: FALSE
Page Ref: 41
20. Government is considered an institutional network.
Answer: TRUE
Page Ref: 41

21. Expectations about such common interpersonal relationships as family and friend often differ across cultures.
Answer: TRUE
Page Ref: 43
22. The forces that promote cultural differences are largely independent of each other.
Answer: FALSE
Page Ref: 44
23. The average marrying age of 13 for girls in India came about because of the high unemployment rate of young women.
Answer: FALSE
Page Ref: 44
24. Europeans were able to conquer the native people in the Americas because of the Europeans' greater initiative and ingenuity.
Answer: FALSE
Page Ref: 45
25. Subsequent communication events could make a relationship far less intercultural with the passage of time.
Answer: TRUE
Page Ref: 51
26. All communication between people from different countries will fall on the "most intercultural" end of the continuum.
Answer: FALSE
Page Ref: 51
27. The degree of similarity or the amount of difference between interactants has little effect on the degree of interculturalness.
Answer: FALSE
Page Ref: 51

28. Differences in such attributes as cultural patterns, verbal and nonverbal codes, and relationship rules can lead to dissimilar interpretations and meanings during communicative events.

Answer: TRUE

Page Ref: 52

29. Similarities in such attributes as cultural patterns, verbal and nonverbal codes, and relationship rules can lead to similar interpretations and meanings during communicative events.

Answer: TRUE

Page Ref: 52

30. The term “intracultural” refers to communication between culturally similar individuals.

Answer: TRUE

Page Ref: 53

31. Ethnicity and race rarely contribute to perceived effects of cultural differences on communication.

Answer: FALSE

Page Ref: 54